In a few well-chosen remarks the minister thanked Mrs. Heasman, in the name of the congregation, for the motive that prompted such a gracious and munificent gift which adorns and gives dignity and grace to the church. He trusted that from this pulpit the highest influence might be voiced and have its effects from a pure gospel in making, and sounding beautiful characters by the aid of God's Holy Spirit.

Local Children At Olds Agricultural School

Short courses for boys and girls attaining success at School Fairs in the province are the order of the day at the School of Agriculture at Olds. One hundred and one children recently returned to their homes after an enjoyable and beneficial course. Seventy youngsters, ranging in age from eleven to seventeen years assembled Monday, July 23rd in order to attend the second Short Course. These pupils are residents in the territory heretofore served by the now closed school at Vermilion. The chosen candidates travelled from as far north as High Prairie that they might have the advantage of the weeks tuition.

Housed and fed on the school premises, a regular daily programme is followed from 6:30 a.m., until 10 p.m. Regularly allotted hours are devoted to organized sports, physical training, cooking, sewing and home nursing are emphasized subjects for the girls; carpentry, livestock, and field husbandry occupy the major part of the boys' time. Dairying, poultry, first aid, entomology and horticulture are joint subjects. Moving pictures, music, community singing and concerts form popular evening diversions. That the participants are enjoying every minute of their stay at Olds is evidenced by their hearty participation in all features of the course. Of inestimable value to the individual child in the matter of information obtained, the Short Courses as conducted at Olds promote interest in School Fair work, and advances in a very desirable way the activities of the Agricultural Schools.

The following are attending the Short Course from this district: Chauvin Centre: Frank Haas, Lloyd Reynolds, Edgerton Centre: Hazel Kelly, Norman Richard.

Chavin Schools Re-open August 27th

The Chauvin Public and high schools will re-open for the full term on Monday, August 27th, when it is to be hoped the children will turn out in full numbers.

In view of the serious reductions made in the government grant the trustees have been forced to effect a number of economies and they have endeavored to make provision for the maintenance of a very small number of teachers with the view that no child shall be handicapped.

Miss McLaughlin B.A., will be in charge of the High School, and Miss A. Saul in charge of the public school.

Sale Of Formaldehyde

While it is provided under the federal law that formaldehyde must be sold in containers properly labelled as to strength it is stated that it is quite legal for farmers to bring their own aldehyde, provided the merchant sees that such containers are labelled similarly to the containers from which the formaldehyde is taken, before the purchaser leaves the store. It is often inconvenient for farmers to purchase the material in large quantities. Merchants should keep a supply of labels on hand, in order that containers brought by farmers may be properly labelled.

Wrestling & Boxing Match

A mixed bout was staged at the I.O.O.F. Hall, Chauvin, between Jack Romanson, the middle weight wrestler of Saskatchewan and Battling McMaster, (Bone Breaker) the heavy weight battler of Edmonton. George Harris, wrestler of Winnipeg acted as referee. Ted Ross of Macleod secured for Romanson and Will Borggaard second for McMaster.

During the first two rounds McMaster wore gloves and was permitted only to strike until a grip was obtained, after which wrestling only was to be allowed. Romanson, on the other hand was permitted only to wrestle.

The first fall was obtained by Romanson after good head and foot work by both parties. In the second round McMaster got in a couple of blows and dodged a headlock but finally went under to a headlock at five minutes. At this stage it was recognized by the audience that the boxer was at a disadvantage and a call was made to accept the offer made by McMaster to carry on as a straight wrestling match. Romanson and referee agreeing. The contest was continued purely as a wrestling match. McMaster, who had retired and dressed again, prepared and re-entered the ring.

Interest in the third round was far more intense than in the excellent fourteen minute bout was staged. Both men putting forth their best efforts. The superior weight of McMaster did not prove as much an advantage to him as the greater speed of Romanson who finally succeeded in pinning his opponent to the mat by the armlock and scissor hold. In the fourth round some very speedy manoeuvring was displayed by both men, Romanson, nearly escaping from a McMaster headlock and half nelson, and McMaster making a quick recovery from a half nelson. McMaster slipped a headlock over Romanson who in escaping accidentally caused a foul.

In the fifth round McMaster was obviously suffering from the effects of the blow and seemed far less able to guard himself and at the end of five minutes was pinned to the floor by a clever arm lock and scissor hold by Romanson.

In appreciation of the display given the audience made a special wish that the proceeds of which were equally divided between McMaster and Romanson.

Watch Out For The Colorado Potato Bug

Watch for the Colorado Potato Bug. A number of these have been observed on at least two potato patches in this district.

We are informed that these pests camp upon the potato vines and eat the foliage. The young beetle may be identified by his dull brick red color with two rows of black spots, and later when matured becomes straw color with two black stripes.

They may be destroyed by sprinkling the vines whilst the dew is on with the dry powder of Paris Green; or, later in the day with Paris Green mixed with water and sprayed over the potato vines.

A small supply of Paris Green is available at the municipal office and can be had on application to T. H. Saul, Secretary-Treasurer, Chauvin.

Some Cloudburst

Mr. and Mrs. F. Carsill and Mr. and Mrs. D. Dunne and family had quite an adventure the other Saturday night. They were driving from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hogen, of Weycollar, when they were forced to seek shelter from the oncoming storm. The only place in sight was the Charles Officer house, which was empty and locked. Such was the force of the storm that a brick chimney was thrown down, the top of the car blown off and about a foot of water surrounded the car. They were glad to say they got home safely.

Labor For Harvest Fields

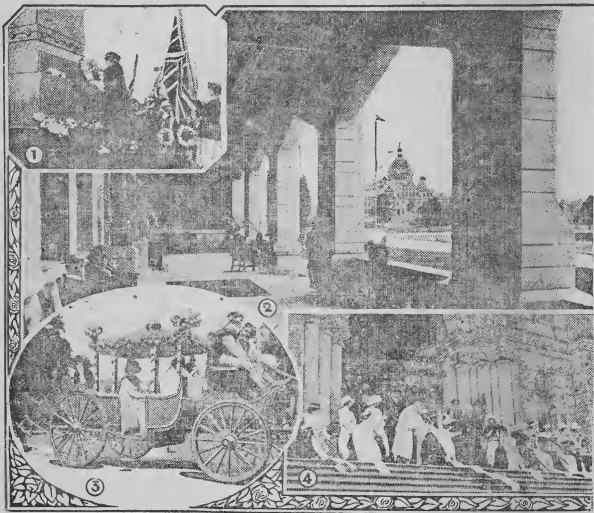

It is estimated that between 10,000 and 12,000 men will be needed for the harvest fields in Alberta commencing about August 10 or 12. The labor department of the government, under Walter Smitten commissioner of labor, is now canvassing all possible sources of supply of such labor. Harvest excursions will begin to arrive in West excursions will begin to arrive in Winnipeg on August 7th, and others will reach there August 10, 16, 18, and 21. Alberta will get a considerable number from these excursions, and it is estimated that 2,000 or 3,000 men can be secured from B. C.

The labor department is making a special appeal to all employers in the province to release as many of their employees as possible for the harvest fields. Men will be needed from August 10 onward, and employers who can release employees, and employees themselves, are asked to register with the nearest government employment bureau, which will see that the hands are placed in it is possible also that high school students will be asked to take a hand in the harvesting.

Spring-time Revelry in Garden City

3—Queen of the Maytime Frolic at Victoria B.C. in her royal coach.
4—Queen Bona Bote enthroned at the entrance to the Parliament Buildings.

THIS year the citizens of Victoria B. C., celebrated the eightieth birthday of this garden city and for three days beginning with the twenty-fourth of May the city frolicked. During the previous week the May Queen had been chosen and with her maids of honor had travelled to neighboring cities inviting her sisters and brothers from Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, and her cousins from Seattle, Bellingham and Portland to join in a three day frolic in her delightful gardens. The neighboring cities responded to her bidding to the extent of sending their Mayors and hundreds of their populace to take part in the spring-time revelry.

The initial ceremony of the three day fête was performed when Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, wife of the Lieutenant Governor of the province of British Columbia, placed a beautiful floral wreath on the handsome bronze statue of Queen Victoria which stands before the parliament buildings, in the name of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. The landing of the May Queens from H.M.C.S. Patricia followed this ceremony, a tender bearing their Majesties to the broad stone steps leading directly to the parliament buildings. Here they were given the freedom of the city by Mayor Maynard and were crowned by His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia.

Then came the Grand Parade, entered into by almost every automobile in the city and participated in by every public spirited firm and individual of Victoria. Bellingham Wash., Nanaimo, and Esquimaux sent picturesque floats and the recently inaugurated Canadian Pacific motor ferry plying between Vancouver Island and the former city gave hundreds of Americans an opportunity to enjoy a real twenty fourth of May celebration.

During the three days many sports events were arranged and on the Thursday and Friday evenings elaborate balls were given in the armories and at the Empress Hotel. Amid the historical surroundings of Beacon Hill, where as the night of the 26th, bonfire fires were built in the early days for the guidance of sailors off the island coast, the picturesque Frolic Pageant was staged on Friday. The Passing of the Pessimist was the title given this much heralded event which portrayed the indictment and reformation of many types of civic croch.

Saturday, as other days, witnessed band concerts given throughout the city streets from early morning until late at night. A home-made circus and regatta provided matinee entertainment at the Gorge and the picturesque night attack by Indians staged in these natural surroundings recalled very vividly the pioneer days of Vancouver Island and brought to a close a civic carnival of brilliant splendour when the Queen of the Pacific Cities paid homage to the memory of her royal name sake, Victoria the Good.

revenue-producing asset in the President of the road than the strictly business and lack of self-boasting qualities in the man who preceded him. It seems more evident every day that D. B. Hanna was merely victim of political patronage "on the rampage" under the guise of taking the railway out of politics!

However time will tell—The point at issue just now is, that over and above all these expenses (representing as it were a blank cheque to an untried railway board to do with as they jolly well pleased) there was another little estimate ahead of these whet to my thinking justified the Senate in waxing wary. I refer to the 2 millions asked for, to close the deal for a C.N.R. office building known as the Hotel Scribe. The fishy part of the deal was that the site was to be purchased for the C.N.R. by a New York syndicate, and the Canadian government to pay the 2 millions until such time as the N.Y. bunch got good and ready!

I think even the government lost faith in this $2,000,000 employment, but it only required the sharp criticism of the Leader of the Opposition to make them remember that by their own deed they had taken the road out of politics! So after a weak defence the crack of the party whip put through their absurd estimate, while most remarkable of all, a safe majority was once more secured by aid of those gallant Transcendentalists who rather than precipitate an election were willing to forget all their pre-election stirring speeches re the retrenchment economy of this Canada of ours, etc., and so on.

In view of this backing of an all too evident extravagant act on the part of Thornton I looked rather like a backwash of political faith for one Western M.P. (who doubtless helped the Government out) to mettle ill-will for the only party which showed any consistency throughout the debate by declaring the action of the Senate to have been done in answer "to the crack of the Meighen whip." Anyone with any memory cannot but remember that it was largely his loyalty to public ownership which lost Meighen the votes of certain B.C. interests.

At any rate all this treashearding by some individuals and newspapers is of a partisan and crocodile nature, —a mere case of I could not love the branch line bill, so much, hated I not the Senate and its party matter!

A six months' hoist isn't a life time, and if our Western men are really anxious about having these bills passed and are quite sure the tax payer can bear the additional burden, they have only to make enough noise, and insist on the estimates being put forward according to the parliamentary procedure, and doubtless the West will get its branch lines.

But in view of Thornton's latest pronouncement that he cannot give reduced rates on wheat, or coal to meet the need which, his extensive trips ought to have shown him was more than pressing, let us look at the other side of the question and be glad when he had a further drain on our pocket books held off, all public and parliamentary judgement becomes less biased, and more sane.

Meanwhile Sir H. Thornton seems to be doing less worrying than any of us. But then you know, he got that 3 million dollars bill put through parliament thanks in great measure to our gallant Transcendentalists stepping valiantly into the breach! To save a non-plussed government!

GIVE US THE NEWS

We presume there never was a newspaper in any locality that gave all the local happenings, it is often that some come or goes that the reporter does not see. It happens that the family is missed several times. They get the impression that the editor does not care to mention them. This is a mistake. In most country towns the local work is the hardest work connected with a newspaper. A man may be a good editorial writer, but a flat failure in the local work, and vice versa. Personal and local happenings can't be clipped from other papers, not by a jugh. It takes physical as well as mental exertion to get out one or two columns of local news in a town of this size. Most people take a local paper to get the local happenings. Don't be afraid to tell the editor or reporter that you have friends visiting you. There are lots of people who are interested in your friends. You owe it as a duty then to let your friends know of their doings. Perhaps you think the paper shows partiality, but just see if the paper doesn't treat you right if you give it a chance.

THE FORUM

The C.N.R. Hold-Up By The Wicked Senators

(Contributed)

The sport of swatting the Senate goes merrily on, helped doubtless by the knowledge that it is a "safe" game to play, this hitting the "fellow who ain't got any friends." Certainly because of the effect upon the settlers concerned of having the hopes deferred it seemed a culpable thing for the Senate to do, but for us to vow vengeance on the Senate without considering all the facts is both childish and futile. Therefore in writing this article the writer is not so much speaking a good word for the Senate as desirous of drawing attention to the fact that as the tax payers are the ones that foot the bills for such expenditures as are passed by our governments, it is therefore only wise for us to scan these with the eye of the careful citizen rather than from the detached viewpoint of the philanthropist.

In regard to our National railway it would seem to be true as the Calgary M.P. said "The only thing that is natural about it is its name and its debts." Accordingly since our ownership is all recognized in respect to its "debts" surely we are more than foolish, to "row elegance" over the curtailment of its estimates if due consideration of these shows us that to continue on as we are doing now is allowing the road to "railroad" us into bankruptcy.

No matter how rabid we may be on the subject of keeping the railway out of politics, it ought surely to be the privilege of those who carry the financial burden to say when they've had enough.

The point is that while the capital investment is $415,500,000 the earnings do not even now suffice to pay operation and maintenance. Last year there was a draft on the treasury of $60,251,000 to pay the "fixed" charges on the obligations of the road, which takes no account of hundreds of millions paid for the old International, and its acquired branch lines. The proposals of the Senate-killed estimates would have added some $30,000,000 to the capital cost of the road with an annual interest charge of $1,500,000 to swell the yearly deficit.

Last season saw estimates passed to the tune of $18,000,000 for expenditure of which $73,000,000 was to meet indebtedness of the management in excess of operating earnings, and for expenses that should have been paid out of the operating revenues.

Sneaking of operating revenues it is interesting to note that while under the former management of Mr. D. B. Hanna the railway was showing a steady increase in revenues, the latest reports show an operating deficit in spite of more freight and passenger traffic and reduced labor charges for the last four months. In short the new management has yet to show proof that an ability to jockey off over the west with a bunch of directors making after-dinner speeches and fair promises is any more of a

OUR SHORT STORY

A SOD HOUSE

(By Percy H. Wright)

Allen was building his home. He was prodigiously happy. As he labored upon it, all the difficulties of the future seemed to melt away. He saw all the good things he was to enjoy and the grand things he was to perform, while he lived in it. Those were golden hours.

What did it matter that it was only a sod house? He did not notice they were sods. He was visualizing—the frame house that was to stand in its place some time, already.

His heart sang as he worked away, but he did not sing aloud for his thoughts were too busy with the letter. Oh, would he write that very night to tell her all about it.

"Dear Joan
"I have found the perfect place at last. You don't know how beautiful it is here! I have found a location in the park-belt, in gently rolling ground interspersed with broad level places over which you look. I have chosen a high spot for our house, and yet there is a small lake not far off. To be near water, and to be on a high place where I can see great stretches have always been deep desires in my heart.

"I have chosen the exact place for the better house that is going to be, subject to your approval when you come. But I am not making this temporary one off, for I want a new clean place for it.

"Oh, I am so glad God made this marvellous world to be a refuge for the overcrowded peoples of other lands. I believe you and I will find here the perfect environment. After my experience of the city, I feel that this is a return to nature, and a natural mode of living. We will not have to compete in the great gathering places of competition, the cities, where real food and real leisure are unobtainable and where a family is as out of place as a bird's nest in Niagara. We will eat our own produce, and sitting on our verandah in the shade of the evening, watch the rest of the world go by.

"I am enthused with all this freedom! The nature! The out-of-door life, but most of all with the big job I have tackled, a man's job, and with the prospect of our love and companionship together in this place.

"The sun shines brightly on us, my dear. The days are actually going by with a speed that is amazing, but they are all too slow in my desire for the realization of my dreams. Come future—and you!

"For, dear Joan, though I am very happy in my work, I miss your presence so much that my hope of having it this soon is a very small consolation.

"Goodbye, your ever steadfast lover, Allen."

"That evening, in the shack of his hospitable neighbor, Avery, he wrote the letter he had planned, and now, way back in the east, Miss Joan had received it.

She reads it without showing either joy or displeasure. She looks at it steadily, with a slightly concerned expression.

Seeing her father in his easy chair in the library she gives him the letter, saying—

"Here, did I'll allow you to read this one this time."

He was a long, bony man, with wise, grey eyes. He took the letter, and proceeded to read it slowly.

Joan sat down on a chair in the corner, waiting for him to finish and make his comment. Now and then he would seem to be mentally marking a significant phrase.

"This, my Joan, is quite like what I would have expected of him. Evidently he has struck a pretty place and had an eye for the beauty of it, and he is very happy in his expectations. But, taking his letter as a whole, I find it very impractical. All through the letter I sense it. He does not know farming conditions and that farmers compete as much or more than any other class. He has made two great mistakes already. He should have taken his homestead in the open prairie country where he would have not to clear it. On the plains he would make as much progress in three years, as he will in a dozen in the park country. And, secondly, he has started without enough capital, as the use of the sod house shows. He should have worked out another year and obtained a larger sum to begin with. Did you not tell me that he only had four hundred? That is wholly inadequate. It takes three thousand dollars at least to properly equip a farm, and then to earn interest on that sum, it is necessary that a large acreage be served by the equipment—at least three hundred acres.

"As he is situated he will clear ten acres this year, and add another ten next year, and his farm will be a money loser and energy user all that time. And as for that phrase 'perfect environment'—it is incorrect, for the social factor is absent under the pioneer conditions, as you would soon find out. You are making a social place for your self here which is valuable, and which you will exchange for absolute barrenness of social life. Then, again, he evidently expects you to be willing to live in the sod house for a certain length of time which of course, is preposterous.

"Now, my Joan, you already know my position in regard to your engagement to this man. Even were you to go on your marriage for two years instead of one, you would not escape the misery and the sod house. And in the last year love and his money would melt. Oh, I know that you are in society courtships and that you are in love with him, but it is his power to cause forgetfulness.

"I do not wish to see you take up the lot of a farmer's wife. We may not be rich here, but we are comfortable, and it is all due to what I have earned since I came to town. I tell you positively that country life is on a distinctly lower standard in regard to life's luxuries. Therefore I advise you to give up your dreamy homesteader and encourage Abercrombie in his place, for though Findlay may not be able to provide for you, he certainly can."

Joan stood before him with her eyes to the ground, listening to, and weighing every word, and realizing all too keenly their truth and force. She did not reply.

"Well, then, go and think it over. Here is your letter."

She took it from him and went out. The doorbell rang and the maid came to her.

"Mr Abercrombie calling for you, Miss."

"Alright, tell him that I will be down in about twenty minutes.

When she came down, he took her up to the opera, as he had arranged to do beforehand.

All during the opera she was not thinking of the subjects presented to her, but of the two men, of the man he side her and of the warmer lover so far away.

"Which?" she thought.

"Shall it be ease and no romance, or work and love?—maybe the latter of a superlative degree. How heartbroken Allen will be, and how disappointed in womanhood, if I marry Abercrombie and desert him. But that really is the wisest course. Shall I follow wisdom or idealism. Shall I hate to do anything that is not very wise. Oh, that their two paths ran together."

Before he took her home again, he found opportunity to whisper a soft suggestion in her ear.

"I will tell you tomorrow, John," she whispered back.

A few weeks elapsed, and the sod house is completed, while even the work on the stable is well under way.

"Allen was boarding" himself now, but that morning neighbor Avery had passed on his fortnight trip to the town, and Allen had stopped him and given him a long list of groceries to buy and the request that he remember particularly to get his mail, for he was expecting a letter, or maybe two.

Therefore, as he piled sod upon sod, he kept a sharp lookout for his return. He caught sight of a small black speck and a small white speck beside it about three miles away before he stopped his work, and went in to make ready for himself and the traveller whom he had asked to have supper with him.

A little later he heard a loud "Whoa!" by the door. He turned the legs, flapjack and righted out.

Joan in a spotlessly white dress, sat serenely upon the seat of the big double wagon.

"Hello, Allen!" she cried. "Let us have a boat for the lake."

"Joan!"

"Avery spoke. 'Well neighbor Find lay it looks as though I brought you an unexpected parcel: I tried to get out of it, but the lady begged and begged, and said she belonged here."

"My good fellow.....Joan, what made you do it?"

"Well, dad said love waned with absence, so I know it was now or never, and so it was now."

"Joan, are you real?.....do you really mean to say that you are willing to marry me with conditions such as these?"

"Yes, dear tomorrow you can hitch up those.... those oxen, and we will go back to town for that very purpose"

Smith had had a convivial evening with a few friends. Finally he reached home and got to bed, but the next morning he was feeling for, from bright.

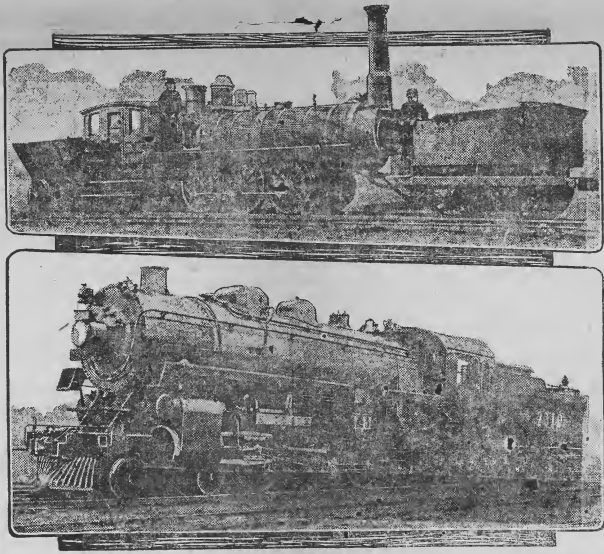

Warily he got up and made his way to the dressing-table, and picked up what he imagined to be the hand-tailor.

When he had really taken up was the hair brush.

"I do want a shave!"

The First Locomotive in America and the Latest.

THIS picture might almost be entitled "Ancient and Modern." It shows the "Sampson," first locomotive in America which was first used at Albion mines in 1839, and one of the new Pacific Type locomotives which have been placed in commission by the Canadian Pacific Railway on all main lines, and which are chiefly responsible for this company's "on time" feature of service. The Canadian Pacific Railway have now definitely adopted this design for their heavy main line service, as representing the most desirable and efficient locomotive for economy and reliability of service, as this particular design reduces to a minimum, consistent with capacity, the number of moving parts which is essential for reliability of service under the most exacting and severe conditions.

The capacity and weight of these locomotives rank them among the biggest of their type in the world, and the largest of this design in operation in Canada. The haulage capacity of the 2200 series is 42,000 lbs., which is obtained with 200 pounds boiler pressure, cylinders 25 inches in diameter, 30 inch stroke and with driving wheels 75 inches in diameter. The weight on the three pairs of drivers of engine is 180,000 pounds and the total weight of the engine and tender in working condition is 495,000 pounds, the tender having a capacity of 8,000 gallons of water and 14 tons of coal.

The design of these locomotives was given very careful study, a trial order of engines constructed in 1912 having been made, with tests under all Canadian conditions, which fully justified all expectations for reliability and economy of operation. The boiler has been carefully proportioned and the inter-relationship of grate area, fire box volume, heat absorption capacity of different lengths of tube and gas areas more carefully thought out than in usual in most designs, which, coupled together with an extremely accurate distribution of steam by an improved type of Walschaert valve gear, has given exceptional economy for a locomotive of this size.

Smith had had a convivial evening with a few friends. Finally he reached home and got to bed, but the next morning he was feeling for, from bright.

Warily he got up and made his way to the dressing-table, and picked up what he imagined to be the hand-tailor.

When he had really taken up was the hair brush.

PROGRESS TO PROSPERITY

With growth well advanced and an abundant supply of moisture in the land there appears the best of prospects for the best harvest for years in this district. In fact there are many indications this will prove a banner year for this part of the province. This is a favorable condition which prevails practically throughout the whole of Western Canada.

On one hand we hear prophecies of an immediate return of the "Prosperity of the West," and on the other we hear "howls of disaster." "The hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat will bury the farmers beneath a load of debt which will crush them out of business," says the executive of the Ituna branch of Farmers' Union of Canada, in a letter to the Alberta Labor News.

The world production of wheat this year has been estimated by the international institute of agriculture at Rome as being two hundred and fourteen million bushels in excess of last year. This large increase has to be largely disposed of in the European markets, whose purchasing powers are still seriously impaired; and, as a result we cannot expect to receive abnormally high prices for our wheat. At the time of writing October wheat is quoted on the Winnipeg market at around 94, and December wheat at 92, which figures may be taken as an indication that the bottom will not altogether fall out of the market.

The truth of the matter lays somewhere between the views held by the optimist and the pessimist. Neither big profit nor heavy loss will accrue to the producers of this present crop. Speaking in particular of our own district, we may state that there will be a slight reduction in the cost of production of the present crop—just how much cannot be stated at the present time. This reduction will in all probability be offset by an approximately corresponding reduction in the prices obtainable. In other words, the measure of the increased yield will be the measure of the advantage as compared with last year.

The last season's crop was barely enough to enable our local farmers to liquidate ten per cent of their capital obligations; and with a good crop and fair prices it may be possible for a twenty-five per cent reduction to be made. Such is our estimate.

With neither ruin nor immediate prosperity in view, we are forced to survey our prospects carefully. It will, in all probability take us four years to get solidly on our feet again. Let us not lose courage, nor entertain false hopes. Agriculture, in common with all industries, is in a world-wide depressed condition, and if we take a broad view, we are forced to admit that we are in a better condition than the average.

Seeing that we cannot liquidate all our obligations this year, the wisest course to pursue is to first make a tabulation of the whole of them. Then by preparing an estimate of our resources we may arrive at the percentage we may be able to reduce each obligation, after making necessary provision for harvesting expenses. Then pay each creditor that percentage. When this is done the demands of any creditor who wishes more than his proportion can be resisted through the proper channels, whilst the interests of the more courteous and considerate creditors are properly protected. This is the fairest method to all concerned, not only will it reduce friction and dis-satisfaction to a minimum, but will prove the quickest way to reach the "pay as you go" basis—the only foundation for profitable farming.

If it has been our particular hardship to face the world-wide storm of economic disturbances of values that has accompanied the greatest conflict that has ever been forced on mankind just at the particular time when we were engaged in consolidating the capitalization of our farms, that is no reason for us to be ashamed of our present economic problems. We are emerging from this chaos considerably stronger than before. True we have serious problems to face, but they are not insurmountable, and more intelligent attention is now being given to their solution than ever before. Canadians have always been noted for courage, endurance, optimism and faith in their country, and we are proud to add that the citizens of this district are displaying their full share of these qualities.

A SPLENDID RECEPTION

The splendid reception given by the officials at the Scott Experimental farm to the small party of visitors from Chauvin is worthy of special notice. The amount of information given by the officials made the trip very profitable. It is to be regretted that a larger party did not go along. However the trail has been blazed and an open invitation awaits our pleasure, and further with the elimination of the war time restrictions cheap rates can now be obtained by large parties from the railroad.

What is there to prevent the organization of a community excursion to Scott Experimental Station at some future date?

NOTES FROM THE NORTH EAST

(Held over from last week)

We are sorry to report that some of our friends north of the river were pretty badly hit by the hail of last week.

Mr. C. A. C. Hann who is conducting a bi-weekly service in Frain School speaks highly of the progress made. Don't forget the service next Sunday, August the 12th at 7.30 p.m. Be sure to come.

Those from this district who have been spending their vacation at Cold Lake returned home safely, reporting having had good weather and a real first class time.

We are indeed glad to see Mrs. Jno. Patterson again, and to know that she is recovering from her aerial operation and subsequent illness.

Things are moving Marsden way, the latest happening is a branch opened up by the proprietors of the store at Mycelar. Other happenings are due shortly.

Mr. W. Deans has been paying us a flying visit. It seems that Walter's horses wanted to come home again, with the result that Walter had to come and locate them. It did us good to see him again and especially to hear that things were well with him up north.

What a pity the Lloydminster and Chauvin fair 'chah. However we must accept our home town.

We hear that Mr and Mrs Kennedy have moved into the residence lately occupied by Mr and Mrs A. C. Rose.

The usual monthly meeting of the Team G. G. A. will be held in Frain school at 8 p.m. on Saturday August 4th. Will all members be present, please.

Last week-end was, Chautauqua and nothing but Chautauqua.

From meagre reports to hand there seems to have been much damage done on Saturday evening by all in the Wyoclar district. Some were badly hit, but how badly is not yet known.

Honey in Saskatchewan

A substantial increase in the production of honey in Saskatchewan is anticipated this year, according to officials of the markets and co-operation branch of the Provincial Dept. of Agriculture. At present there are nearly 100 beekeepers in Saskatchewan. Fourteen of them produced a total of 9,632 pounds of honey last year, making an average yield of 688 pounds for each apiary. The remaining squares yielded an average of 200 pounds each; and it is estimated these 1922 production of honey in Saskatchewan was approximately 12 tons.

Tourist Traffic

Since the opening of the Banff-Windermere road linking up the grand circle tour through the Canadian and American Rockies, there have been 1969 cars over the road, according to a statement from Ottawa, of which nearly 500 were American cars. At the Auto camp in Calgary 4,600 tourists have been accommodated since July 1st.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor:
Dear Sir: In a recent issue appeared a quotation from an editorial said to have appeared in the Prohibition Bulletin of B. C. The quotation is as follows, in part:

"The evils of government are becoming daily more apparent."
"Increased crime, commercial distress and the corruption of the Civil service is inevitable."

The statement with regard to increase of crime is absolutely inaccurate and misleading. As a matter of fact statistics recently issued by the bureau at Ottawa, and excerpts published in the daily press, show that crime has decreased in B. C. to a greater extent than in any other of the western provinces, as follows:

British Columbia — Indictable offences to Sept. 10, 1922, 1004; previous year, 1282; decrease 21.68 per cent.

Alberta — Indictable offences to Sept. 10, 1922 1170; Previous year, 1263; decrease 7.36 per cent.

Saskatchewan — Indictable offences to Sept. 10, 1922, 1391; previous year 1220; increase 14.02 per cent.

Convictions for drunkenness in British Columbia decreased from 2379 to 1081 or 54.66 per cent, while Alberta decreased only 17.5 per cent, and the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan both showed an increase in such convictions.

There was also an increase in convictions against the liquor act in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Illicit stills increased in each of the western provinces except British Columbia.

From the above it is plain that the liquor legislation of the prairie provinces has proved a failure and in face of the above statistics it would be wise to continue it in operation.

The public should not accept general statements on this question, as it has become notorious, that the extravagance of some of them is only equalled by the fanaticism of those who make them. They have more regard for sound than accuracy.

Wool Contracts

Contracts involving more than 21,000 sheep in Saskatchewan and Manitoba have been received to date by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Ltd. In all, about 225 contracts have been received from sheep breeders, an estimated 170,000 pounds of wool. This is in excess by several thousand pounds of the amount of the contracts filed with the concern up to the first of June 1922.

Wool Crop In South

It is now estimated by the Southern Sheep Wool Growers' Association that the clip in the south part of the province will reach a million pounds, and that the average price will be about 28 cents.

The Canadian exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition, to be held in London from April 20th to October 31st, 1924 is to be financed, controlled and directed by the Federal Government. The estimated cost is $1,000,000. The two Canadian railroads are planning exhibits on adjoining sites, each with a floor space of 10,000 feet. The cost of the Canadian Pacific exhibit is estimated at $300,000.

The Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of Russia," upon her last sailing, carried a shipment of Canadian frogs for Japan. Cool space was reserved in the hold of the liner and the travellers were well packed in ice. On being taken ashore at Yokohama these frogs will be gradually warmed until they are ready to be effective today. The two Japanese importers, with the idea of giving the Japanese a new industry in the production of frogs legs.

The Canadian Pacific Telegraphs have announced the following reduced rates per word for cable messages to the following countries: Austria, 30 cents, Belgium 23 cents, France 22 cents, Germany 23 cents, Great Britain and Ireland 20 cents, Greece 35 cents, Hungary 35 cents, Italy 26 cents, Spain 33 cents, Switzerland 27 cents. The 25 cent per word rate to Great Britain and Ireland is still in effect for special rush cables. Corresponding reductions have been made in the rates to other countries in Europe and beyond via Atlantic cables, and the new deferred rates will be one-half of the full rates quoted above except to Great Britain and Ireland, where the existing deferred rate of 9 cents per word is unaltered.

James Edwards, of Port Robinson, declares he has a chicken out of this year's hatch which one has four chicken freaks. This one has four legs, four wings, two backs, two necks but only one head. It has been preserved in alcohol.

One hundred and fifty families are to be brought into British Columbia and settled under private contract. The railway's main line through the Rockies may be made next year. D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western line, says that the fiscal demands and financial conditions would determine when a start would be made.

A Swedish scientist claims to have perfected a process for the manufacture of "artificial water" from 60 per cent. sawdust and the balance chalk and chemicals. The product is as hard as the real water, can be planned, sawed, bored, nailed, painted, stained or polished. It will not deteriorate in water.

A start on the actual work of electrifying sections of the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line through the Rockies may be made next year. D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western line, says that the fiscal demands and financial conditions would determine when a start would be made.

The decision of the Government of the province of Quebec to grant a bonus of $4 per acre for land cleared will result in an approximate saving of $250,000. Clearance in the past few years has amounted to approximately 40,000 annually, but the total this year is expected to be 60,000 or more.

Speaking to the Canadian Club in London, Eng., recently E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, contrasted the "irritating tortoise-like slowness" of Canada's population policy with Australia's progressiveness. "We Canadians would be wise to keep our gates open for brains as well as brawn," he said.

One hundred and fifty delegates of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association will tour the British Isles this summer, and hold their annual convention in London, according to decisions reached at the final meeting of the convention here. The party will leave about the first of June, and will attend the British Empire Exhibition. The tour will last about six weeks.

Up to the end of 1922 dividends paid by the gold and silver mines of northern Ontario amounted to over $123,135,000. Cobalt camp was discovered late in 1903 and hardly began producing until 1909. Dividends paid out of Cobalt mines amount to $93,863,820, which represents practically 75 per cent of the gross value of production. Porcupine mines have paid $28,472,988.

George E. Buchanan, of Detroit, head of the "On to Alaska with Buchanan" movement, will have 62 boys and 24 adults or members of the boys' families when he personally conducts his party from Vancouver July 18 via the Canadian Pacific "Princess" steamer. Buchanan thinks, with President Harding, that a trip to Alaska is a liberal education to any boy who takes it. He puts up one-third of the expense, the boys' parents up the remaining third.

Traffic through the Lachine Canal during the month of June showed an increase of two million bushels of grain and one hundred thousand tons of coal with increased pulpwood, produce and passengers over the same month of the previous year.

The wheat crop of Alberta and Manitoba has progressed so well on account of the brilliant moisture of the early season that farmers, business men and railroad companies are preparing for a harvest in excess of the record one of 1915.

Prince Rupert, B.C., claims the world's best record for a one trip fish catch. A fishing schooner arrived at this port recently after being at sea 14 1/2 days, with 35,000 pounds of halibut, which sold for a sum that netted each man of the crew of five $727.80.

In the Province of Ontario, it is estimated, the lumber cut in 1922 amounted to 309,000,000 board feet and in addition 289,133 cords of pulpwood. The Province of Nova Scotia cut 125,000,000 board feet, Brunswick 210,000,000 feet, and New Brunswick 273,146,000 board feet.

The Dominion Express has just effected a shipment from Hamburg to Kobe, Japan, in 32 days. The average time consumed between the same two points via the Suez Canal is 49 days, and the saving thus made by the Canadian route will be of great importance in helping make this country the road between Europe and the Orient.

The total value of the pelts of fur-bearing animals taken in the Dominion during the season of 1921-22 was $17,433,800. This represents an increase over the previous year of $7,287,273, or 72 per cent, and the number of pelts of all kinds was 4,266,790, an increase over the previous season of 48 per cent. These figures compare well with animals taken by trappers and pelts of ranch-bred animals.

Tests of ceramic clay resources in British Columbia are being planned this summer by the British Columbia Government. The tests will be made under the auspices of the Department of Education and the Department of Industries. There are many varieties of clays in British Columbia and some are reported to be particularly suited to the manufacture of high class pottery ware.

A reduction of express rates on westward moving business between Europe and Canada was announced by the Foreign Department of the Dominion Express Company recently. This reduction on westbound shipments follows a similar cut on shipments from Europe to Canada made a little while ago, and amounts to a reduction of approximately twenty per cent, on the trans-oceanic trip. The rates came into effect on July 9 from all points in Canada and Europe.

The Banff-Windermere highway, the last link in the 6,000-mile chain of good roads which stretches from the heart of the Canadian Rockies to California and return is now open to motor traffic, having been officially opened on June 30th by the cutting of a ribbon at Kootenay crossing in the presence of a number of Federal and Provincial government officials, and a host of automobile tourists. The completion of this road has rendered accessible the most beautiful scenic country on the continent.

Manitou Lake Chautauqua

Once more Chautauqua time has arrived, and on Friday last the crowds wended their way to the prettily situated picnic grounds on Manitou Lake. A visit alone to this place is time well spent, but with the extra attractions it was not to be wondered why all roads led there this last week-end. When one arrived they were at once struck with the completeness of the arrangements that had been made for their pleasure and comfort, and was not one glad to renew old friendships which only such occasions as these annual events make possible.

The huge tent placed in a secluded place by the willing hands of the committee is change. The booth with its various assortment of good things for old and young, the refreshment stall under the capable management of Mrs. Watson, the baseball diamond, where the young people could while away the time between performances, and also the Lake itself where you could enjoy a dip, which reminds me of our senior Secretary's bathing cap, which, as rumours report, consisted only of a cap (no other apparel being mentioned). It was hoped that this year would be successful and the jubilee of last year over the guarantee is repeated, and many anxious moments had been spent in wonderland.

The first day, which was specially set apart as children's day, opened fine, and there was little doubt but that the children would have the time of their lives, and so it proved. Parnell, the one man band, gave delight, not only to the youngsters but to their elders alike, whilst Wil Lee, who has been ten times round the world and as Friday proved made millions laugh. The first day augured well as the entertainments were well up to the standard and the attendance good. A heavy rain early on Saturday morning looked like setting in, but fortunately it cleared after awhile and did not deter a large number from taking in the second day. In the afternoon the Burbeck Concert party gave an excellent program, and Dr. humorous and dramatic readings. He gave, among other things, selections from J. M. Barrie, and Charles Dickens. During the interval an ominous cloud loomed overhead, and for a time it looked threatening. Hail to the North and East made minds return to material things. The evening program consisted of some more really excellent turns by the Burbeck party, and the lecture which followed, given by Dr. Kerby proved inspiring and instructive. After the performance a thunder rolled, and the lightning made the trip home anything but pleasant, and to make things more unpleasant the storm burst in all its fury, and by the time home was reached the writer was wet through and through, yet after a change and in more congenial surroundings he remembered the more pleasant part and came to the conclusion that it was worth it. The last report from the Secretary was that the amount guaranteed was almost reached.

When we went down to the grounds on Monday, after the ruin of the morning it was regrettable to hear of the damage done at Wycolan on Saturday evening by the hail. Some reported total loss, while others suffered partial loss.

The National quartette provided the afternoon program, in the evening they appeared along with Mr. Will Dietrick who gave an illustrated lecture. Tuesday we had Elder Willoughby concert party, who gave a really splendid program, whilst Mr. Kemble gave an amusing at the same time valuable talk on "Boys". Tuesday's program was a real wind-up to a real four days, and one cannot close these notes without paying a tribute to those who have the real community spirit, and did most valuable work in making this year's Chautauqua a success.

Mr. Mac Campbell as President, along with W. W. Clark and K. V. Coe (Secretary) and treasurer respectively) did their part, whilst Messrs T. W. and M. Campbell were indefatigable in their efforts. Others who contributed by work, were the Tent Committee, and Mr. Jno Paterson.

Next year we are assured of a Chautauqua by the fact the 60 names appear on the guarantors list.

A special service was held in the tent on Sunday afternoon. The speakers included Dr. Burns, Mr. Reeves and Mr. Ringer. Solos and duets were rendered by Mrs. Watson, A. G. Scott and others in fact a splendid time was spent, after which many took advantage of a bathe in the splendid lake nearby.

A medical board was testing the mentality of a negro soldier.
"Do you ever hear voices without being able to tell who is speaking or where the sound comes from?"
"Yes, suh," answered the Negro.
"And when does this occur?"
"When I see talkin' over de phone."

The Funny Side Of Life

HIS BEST SHAVE

An English tourist arrived one Saturday evening at a small hotel in an outlying part of Scotland. Next morning he asked the hotel keeper for the shaving saloon. He was told the hotel had no such accessory, and if he wanted a shave and could not do it himself, he should step over the way to the blacksmith's. This he did.

The blacksmith conducted him to the smithy, told him to sit down on the anvil, and then fastened an unwholesome leather apron under his chin.

The next operation was to spit vigorously on a piece of pale yellow soap, which, with the aid of a shaving brush he worked up into a beautiful lather and applied to the tourist's face. After the operation the tourist admitted that he had had the best shave of his life, but not relishing the manner in which the lather was manufac-tured, he asked the blacksmith if he always spat on the soap.
"Och, naw," replied the worthy, "ye've a bit of a stranger, but if it's anybuddy I ken, I just spit on their face."

A revivalist preacher, at all times careful in his language, his religion being of the "shirt-sleeve" variety, had taken for his text "Vanity." To point his moral, he said:-

"Now, if there is a woman in this congregation this morning who didn't look in the mirror before coming to the meeting, I want to see her: I want her to stand up!"

A slight woman rose and stood with meekly downcast eyes. To describe her in a kindly way, one would say she was homely. The revivalist rested his carnal eye upon her.

"Well, Heaven bless you, sister," he said, "it certainly is a pity you didn't"

One afternoon a stranger alighted from a train at a country town and headed up the street. Finally he met a man who looked like a native.

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "are you a resident of this town?"
"Yes, sir," was the ready rejoinder of the other, "I have been here something over fifty years. What can I do for you?"

"I am looking for a criminal lawyer," responded the stranger. "Have you one here?"

"Well," said the other reflectively, "we think we have, but we can't prove it on him."

Little Bobby, who had been playing with a neighbor's daughter, came sobbing to his mother one day and declared that his playmate had pulled his hair.

"Why, Bobbie," his mother gasped, "I thought she was such a nice little girl that she would never do a thing like that."

"So did I," wailed Bobby. "That's why I kicked her."

"Honey," said the colored suitor, "when we girls married you ain't gonna to give up dat good job you has workin' for de white folks, is you?"

"But ain't we gwine to have no honey-moon, an' take a trip on de train somewhere?"

"One of us might go, honey. Dey ain't a thing holdin' me, but you's got 'sponsibilities."

An Irish preacher, wishing to show to his congregation into what depth a prodigal son sinks, gave the follow-ing illustration. "A lad left home with good intentions, but evidently got into bad company. He eventually had to leave his overcoat in order to raise money to keep himself. However, his coat and waistcoat had to go the same way. Again he needed money, and he was forced to pawn his trousers, and likewise his shirt and vest. Then he came to himself."

A young lawyer was asked to defend a man accused of stealing a watch. He pleaded ardently, drawing a realistic picture of the poverty of the man so convincingly that at the close of the argument the court was in tears, and even the man wept.

The verdict was "Not guilty."

"But, I have not wept since I was a child. Your plea was wonderful. I have no money with which to reward you, but"—and he drew a package out of the depths of his ragged clothes—"here's the watch; take it and welcome."

Salesman: "A hat, madam—what size would your husband wear?"
She (buying his birthday present): "Let me see—I really don't know—but he takes sixteen in collars, so I suppose his hat would be about nineteen or twenty."

"People need something to make them think."

"Yes, and that something is brains."

The season is now on for shampoos—no sham to it, Talcum powders, Face powders, Vanishing Cream, Cold Creams, Massage Creams. We have a large stock on hand, of the very best manufacturer's products and at their regular prices. We also have Hair Groom—the newly advertised powder to make the hair stay neatly combed.

There were three at the little table in the cafe, a girl and two men. Suddenly the lights went out, and the girl drew back quickly and noiselessly.

An instant later there was the smack of a compound kiss. As the lights went up each man was seen to be smiling complacently.

"I thought I heard a kiss," said the girl, "but nobody kissed me."

Then the men glared at each other and finished.
